INTRODUCTION

The Irk Bitig or "The book of Omens" is the only Old Turkic text written in the runic script and in the form of a book. It was found in the deposit of manuscripts in the "Halls of the Thousand Buddhas" near Tun-huang. Like many manuscripts found in the same deposit, the Irk Bitig cannot be precisely dated, but it is very likely that it was written in the 9th century. It is written in the so-called "Manichaean ny- dialect".

The Irk Bitig (British Museum, Or. 8212) is a little book consisting of fifty-eight leaves or twenty-nine small sheets, about 13.6 cm. high and about 8 cm. wide. The sheets are glued together at the end one by one.

The Turkic text begins on the reverse page of the fifth leaf and ends on the fifty-seventh leaf. With the exception of these two leaves, all the others are written on both sides. Thus, the Turkic text comprises 104 small pages. The last two pages contain a colophon written in red ink. It seems that the first nine and the last three pages of the book were originally blank; but later they were filled with writing in Chinese. Moreover, the last three pages of the Turkic text, together with the margin of the pages 1 and 101 were covered with Chinese writing.

The title of the book appears as irk bitig on page 101. Formerly it was thought that the book had been written for two disciples named İsig Saḡun and İtä Çuk. Hamilton, who studied the colophon of the Irk Bitig, has made it clear that this little book was written by a certain young pious disciple at the Taygüntan monastery for his elder brother Saḡun İtaçuk, i.e. "general İtachuk". As we learn from the colophon, the manuscript was written "on the fifteenth day of the second month, in the year of tiger". Bazin thinks that the date of the compilation of the work is either 17 March 930 or 4 March 942

(1974:296). However, it is more probable that this work dates from the 9th century. In view of its linguistic peculiarities, Erdal (1976:23) rightly places this work among the group I texts dating from the 8th and the 9th centuries.

Previous Works on Irk Bitig

The Irk Bitig was first published by V. Thomsen in the Journal of Royal Asiatic Society, 1912, pp. 190-214. Thomsen's edition consists of a transcribed text of the manuscript, an English translation, notes on certain problematic words and a list of words occurring not only in the Irk Bitig but also those found in the other three runic texts.

The Irk Bitig was secondly published by H. N. Orkun in his Eski Türk Yazıtları, II, pp. 71-93. Orkun's edition is nothing but a Turkish translation of Thomsen's edition. However, he was able to identify two words occurring in the IB, i.e. (ā)sri "tekir", öpgük "çavuş kuşu". The second word should be corrected, however, to read iipgük.

The Irk Bitig was thirdly published by S. Ye. Malov in his Pamjatniki Drevnetjurskoj Pis'mennosti, Moskva 1951, pp. 80-92. Malov's edition is simply a Russian translation of Thomsen's edition.

After these publications, two scholars, Sir Gerard Clauson and Marcel Erdal, published important articles dealing with the unsolved or problematic words and expressions in the Irk Bitig, i.e. "Notes on the 'Irk Bitig'", UAb., XXXIII/3-4 (1961), pp. 218-225, and "Irk Bitig Üzerine Yeni Notlar", TDAY-Belleten 1977, pp. 87,119., respectively. Although the two authors have made some important corrections, many problematic words and expressions in this archaic and complicated text have remained unsolved.

Meanwhile, James Hamilton republished the colophon of the Irk Bitig and made a very important correction in his "Le colophon de l'Irk Bitig", Turcica VII (1973), pp. 7-19. Hamilton's study of the colophon has made it clear that this work was compiled by a certain young pious deciple for his elder brother Sağun İtaçuk, i.e., General Itachuk (see above).

Contents

The book gets its title from the ırks, or "omen"s in it. It consists of 65 short interpretations of 65 ırks, or omens, and a short colophon.

At the head of each interpretation or paragraph there is an ırk, i.e. three groups of small circles. As A. von Gabain has first pointed out, the Irk Bitig is a handbook for interpreting the significance of the various combinations of three throws of a "dice", or a short rectangular rod with one to four circles inscribed on each side of it. Clauson (1960:218) informs that such "dice" were recently discovered at Khayrabad Tepe, a few miles north of Termez in Uzbekistan, in a layer anterior to the 3rd century A.D. containing Kushan coins.

The artistic style used in the book indicates that it is not a work translated from a foreign language. There is no doubt that it was compiled by a Turk who seems to have had a literary talent in using his native tongue.

Each interpretation which ends in tir "says" is followed by ança bilin or ança biligler "know thus", and this, in its turn, by one of the phrases ädgü ol "it is good" or anıyg üdgü ol "it is very good", or yablak ol "it is bad" or anıyg yablak ol "it is very bad". Some paragraphs, however, lack the conclusions. One paragraph (no. 12) has the conclusion yabız ol "it is bad" instead of yablak ol, and one, the paragraph 57 has a unique conclusion which reads "Know thus: At the beginning of this ırk there is a little pain, but later it becomes good again".

Script

The runic script used in the IB is in general the same as the script used in the Orkhon and Uigur inscriptions found in Mongolia. There are, however, the following differences:

1. There is no a special letter for the sound /ş/, the back- and front-vocalic signs for /s/ denoting /ş/ at the same time;
2. The sign for the back consonant cluster /lt/ does not occur;

3. There are two more runic syllabic letters which do not occur elsewhere, i.e. $\mathcal{A}$ ot and $\mathcal{B}$ üp/üþ. The first occurs thrice in the book; the latter occurs six times denoting only /p/ occurring after the letter U, twice with the phonetic value /up/ and once to represent the final sound group /üp/.

Orthography

The initial long /a/ is written in all the occurrences of the following words: a:k "white" (5, 19), a:la "multicolored" (2), a:ra "among, between" (10, 38, 52, 52), a:tan- "to become famous" (55), a:z "few" (57), a:z- "to go astray" (15; three times). The long /a/ of the first syllable is written only in the following cases: ba:- "to tie" (14), ya:ş "fresh grass" (17), but y(a)ş in the same irk. Of other long vowels, only [o:] of yo:k "does not exist" may be regarded as indicated, for it is spelt yook in all its occurrences in IB.

The medial and final sound groups /ok/ and /uk/ are generally indicated, even after the labial vowel /u/, with the syllabic sign wk, e.g. sookuş- (2, 6, 16, 47, 49), but sokuş- (35), tookuz (29, 50), yook (36; three times), ıdukluk (41), kodm(a)<d>uk (9), kudruukın (50), sınukıñın (48), suuk- (33), toruk (16), unam(a)duk (38), utuzm(a)duk (29), y(a)ruk (26), but t(a)pladuk(u)min (3).

Similarly, the medial and final sound group /ük/ is written, even after the labial vowel, with the syllabic sign wk, e.g. biüükiñä (9), k(ä)küük (23), körüklüg (18, 64), köz(ü)nükki (18), n(ä)çüük (45), n(ä)llük (57; twice), özlük (17), t(ä)glük (24), tügiünüki (18), tüük(ä)l (27, 42), üzüükiñin (48), but üpgük (21).

The consonant cluster /nç/ is always written with the double consonant sign n̄ç, e.g. (a)n̄ça (2, 6, 11 etc.), (a)n̄ç(ı)p (66), kun̄çuyı (5), etc. In three instances, the sign n̄ç is used after N: bus(a)n̄n̄ç (52) k(a)n̄n̄ça (42), s(a)n̄n̄çmiş (34).

The consonant cluster /nt/, on the other hand, is sometimes written with the double consonant sign nt, e.g. (a)nta (56), (a)nt(a)g (always), yunt(t)a (24), but k(a)nta (24), kutınta (15), yuntın(a)ru (5).

The back-vocalic consonant cluster sign lt is not used in the Irk Bitig.

The otherwise unknown syllabic sign ot is used to write the word ot "grass": ot (17, 53), otsuz (45).

The otherwise unknown syllabic sign üp is used to indicate the sound group /up/ in the following cases: oluruüp(a)n (1, 28). It is mostly used, however, to write the consonant /p/ occurring after the vowel u: konuuüp(a)n (64), oluruüp(a)n (4), oñuuüp (17), turuüp(a)n (56), tutuüp(a)n (16), uruüp(a)n (40). In one instance only it is used to write the sound group /üp/: yütürüp (24).

Doubled (geminated) consonants are shown by a single consonant sign: tuz(a)k(k)a (61), yunt(t)a (24).

An important orthographical feature of the IB is the indication of the consonant /ş/ in the suffix -mış always with the front-vocalic sign s. This may indicate that the suffix -mış was inharmonic at least in the dialect of the author: ba:mış (14), b(a)rmiş (5, 12, 16 etc.), ıdmiş (19), k(a)lmiş (13, 17, 38), sokuşm(i)ş (35), etc.

Another important feature of the orthography is the spelling of the accusative suffix after the 1st person possessive suffix with the front-vocalic sign for n: t(a)pladuk(u)min (3), kurugs(a)k(ı)min (8). The accusative suffix -n is written with the back-vocalic N, however, after the 2nd and 3rd persons possessive suffixes: sınukıñın (48), kudruukın (50), oglın (2, 29). In one instance, the instrumental suffix -n is written with the front-vocalic sign n in a back-vocalic word: y(a)sıçın (40).

Scribal Errors

Throughout the manuscript there are some obvious scribal errors and omissions. These are the following:

1. kodmuk (9) instead of kodm(a)duk
2. kudursugıñınıñ (16) instead of kudursugıñı
3. köz(ü)nükki (18) instead of köz(ü)nüki
4. ürk(ü)tt(ü)ñ (21) instead of ürk(ü)tm(ä)ñ

5. $\zeta U k$ (23) instead of $\zeta(\ddot{a})k(i)k$
6. $y(a)b(a)k$ (46, 50, 61) instead of $y(a)bl(a)k$
7. $s(a)p(\ddot{a})r$ (48) instead of $s(a)p(a)r$
8. $topuul\zeta(i)n\check{c}a$ (50) instead of $topul\zeta(i)n\check{c}a$
9. $s(a)n\check{n}\check{c}mi\check{s}$ (34) instead of $s(a)n\check{n}\check{c}mi\check{s}$
10. $k(a)n\check{n}\check{c}a$ (42) instead of $k(a)n\check{n}\check{c}a$
11. $bus(a)n\check{n}\check{c}$ (52) instead of $bus(a)n\check{n}\check{c}$
12. zz (57) instead of az
13. $b(\ddot{a})d(i)z$ (60) instead of $b(\ddot{a})di\check{k}$
14. $turn\ddot{y}ya$ (61) instead of $turn\ddot{y}a$
15. $d I T R$ (colophon) instead of $dint(a)r$.

Apart from these, the vowel /i/ of $y(a)r(i)lmi\check{s}$ (6) looks like U rather than I .

Finally, I believe that there is an important omission in the passage $\ddot{o}z\ddot{u}m\ yul\ intin, b(a)\check{s}(i)mun\ yul\ (\ddot{a})bint(i)n$ (8). The parallelism and the prosodical rules require that the first clause should rather be amended to read $\ddot{o}z\ddot{u}min\ yul\ inintin$ / $b(a)\check{s}(i)mun\ yul\ (\ddot{a})bint(i)n$.

The scribal errors and omissions mentioned above (especially the error no.7) indicate that the manuscript in the old Turkic runic script is not the original author's copy. As Erdal has suggested (1977:106), it was probably copied from a manuscript written in the Uigur script.

EXPLANATIONS

1.1. y(a)r(i)n 'in the morning'. Clauson derived this word from yaru- 'to become bright, shine' (ED:970). This etymology has rightly been rejected by Erdal on the ground that the final vowel of the verb is not i, but u (1977:88).

1.2. kiçä 'in the evening'. Clauson derives this word from ke:ç- 'to be late' (ED:694). According to Erdal, it is the equative form of the extinct noun ke which is also the root of ken and kedin (1977:88). In my opinion, kiçä is derived from keç [ke:ç] 'late' with the ancient dative-locative suffix {+A} (cf. Tekin 1985:254).

1.3. örgin 'taht'. Clauson derives this word from örge-, a verb about the existence of which he has doubts (ED:225). OT örgin is a derivative of örg(i)- 'to elevate, raise, erect', a verb which actually occurs in the Shine-Usu inscription (south 10): (e)l örgin(a)nta örg(i)p(ä)n it(i)td(i)m 'liess ich dann reichshof aufführen' (Ramstedt 1915:30-31).

2.1. ala 'mottled, dappled, spotted' should be read a:la for the initial a is written (cf. Trkm. a:la id.).

2.2. sookuşmış, korkmuş. These two examples and many others occurring in IB indicate that the participial suffix -miş did not observe the rules of vowel (palatal) harmony. As is known, the final sibilant of this suffix is generally written with the palatal sign *s*² in the Orkhon inscriptions

2.3. (ä)şür m(e)n 'I amble'. Erdal (1977:69) thinks that this verb could only be äşü-, because the verb äş- 'to amble' takes the present tense suffix as -är in MK. But the verb äşü- means 'to cover, envelop' which does not make sense here.

2.4. y(a)l(i)g 'cheerful, jolly'. This word was read (a)yl(i)g by Thomsen and the phrase (e)ki (a)yl(i)g kişi oğlın was translated as 'a two-month old child of man' (1912:196). Orkun (ETY II:73) and Clauson (ED:272) accepted this reading and translation. Erdal (1977:89) has rightly rejected this reading and suggested y(i)l(i)g citing the following passage from TT I:14: tüttiş kəriş kodgıl, yılıg yumşak bolgıl 'Kavgayla çatışmayı bırak, ılık ve yumuşak ol'. But the vowel i of the first syllable is not written. For that reason I am of the opinion that the word should be read y(a)l(i)g 'cheerful, jolly'. This word, otherwise unknown and unattested in the written records, survives in Yakut as salı: 'cheerful, jolly': külü: salı: 'laughter and joke', külü: salı: kisi 'a cheerful and witty person' (Pek. 1288).

3.1. t(a)l(i)m 'predatory'. An adjective derived from talı- 'to damage, pillage, attack, assault', a variety of well-attested tala-, which is also attested in Uig. II:76: talıp quna... 'plundering and stealing'.

3.2. k(a)ra kuş 'eagle'. Thomsen (1912:196) and Orkun (ETY II:73) translated the phrase as 'black-eagle' (kara kartal). But the whole phrase means 'eagle', as corrected by Clauson (1961:219 and ED:643).

3.3. t(a)n(i)m tüsi 'the feathers of my body'. Thomsen (1912:196) and following him Orkun (ETY II:73) translated the phrase as 'the appearance of my body' (vücudümün görünüşü), analyzing the second word as tüs-i.

3.4. t(a)pladuk(u)min. The vowel connecting the accusative suffix -n should be read i, for the accusative suffix is written with the front n sign. In the Old Turkic runic texts there are several examples indicating that the vowel occurring between the 1st and 2nd p. poss. suffixes and the accusative suffix -n was originally i: s(a)b(i)m(i)n 'my words' (KT S 1), oglu(m)i(n) 'my son' (Suji 6), k(a)n(i)ŋ(i)n 'your khan' (T 3).

4.1. (ä)sri 'spotted, dappled'. It was Orkun who first recognized this word and translated it as 'tekir' (ETY II:74).

5.1. tuyuglug. The word meaning 'hoof' has different shapes in Middle Turkic texts and modern languages (cf. ED:519). The only surviving form which fits IB tuyug seems to be Tuv. duyug.

5.2. y(a)rag(a)y 'it would fit to be', 'it would be suitable for'. This verb occurring thrice in this omen was misunderstood by Clauson in its first two occurrences: 'The golden-hoofed stud will flourish' (ED:49), 'The golden-bodied camel stud will prosper' (1960:219), 'The golden-bodied camel stud will flourish' (ED:305). The sentence altun tuyuglug adgırlık yaragay was understood correctly only by Orkun: 'Altın nalı aygırhğa yarar' (ETY II:74).

5.3. budl(a)l(i)g 'having a nose peg'. Scholars have had difficulties in reading and interpreting this word. Thomsen left it untranslated. Clauson (1961:219) was certain that the second l in this word must be an error for u; so he suggested that the word should be corrected to read bodlug and understood as 'having a body'. He translated the phrase altun bodlug as 'golden-bodied' (1961:219, ED:305). But his cannot be correct, because the parallelism requires that we should have here a word denoting a device which belongs to a camel and corresponds to the 'nail' of a stallion. Such a word could only be a 'nose peg'. 'A camel's nose peg' was very likely called budlu and budla in Old Turkic as we understand from the historical and surviving forms of it: MK butlu camel's nose-plug' (Dankoff I:325, 329), Kirg. buyla 'the rope tied to a camel's nose peg', Kzk. buyda id., Taranchi buyla 'a camel's wooden nose peg', Tuv. buyla id., Trkm. büyli id., etc. The form in MK goes back to an older budlu which survives in Trkm. büyli (<buylı <budlu). Tuvinian buyla with its y is obviously a loan word in this language. Consequently, there is no scribal error in BUDLLG which can be read either budl(u)l(u)g or budl(a)l(i)g 'having a nose peg'.

8.1. öziim yul intin 'pluck my self (soul) out of (its) hole'. Clauson's translation of this sentence as 'pull me out of the hole' (1960:219-220) cannot be correct, for a snake can be cut only when it is out of the hole! Since kıl(ı)çın k(e)sip(e)n 'cutting with a sword' precedes this sentence, the word in 'hole' must have been used here figuratively. The same is true of (e)b 'house' occurring in the following sentence.

8.2. (e)bint(i)n 'from its house'. The parallelism requires that this word should be understood as such and not as 'from its berries', as suggested by Clauson (1960:220 and ED:12).

The parallelism and the rules of prosody also require that the words öziim and intin occurring in the previous sentence öziim yul intin must be özüm and inintin respectively: özüm[in] yul in [in]tin / b(a)ş(ı)mın yul (e)bint(i)n.

9. The words k(a)t and büük [bük] seem to have been used here synonymously, as suggested by Erdal (1977:91).

10.1.(ä)sn(ä)g(ä)n 'yawning'. This word was first recognized as such by Clauson (1960:220).

10.2. k(a)muş. An example of early labialization; cf. k(a)mış (38).

12. k(a)m(ı)lmiş 'fell down'. This word was first read k(a)ml(a)mış and translated as 'performed shaman tricks (?)' by Thomsen (1912:198). Later, however, it was corrected to read k(a)m(ı)lmiş 'fell down' by him (Samlede Afhandlinger III:250). This reading was accepted by Orkun (ETY II:75), but not by Malov (1951:81) and by Clauson (1960:220 and ED:628). Although both readings and interpretations are possible, I believe that k(a)m(ı)lmiş is more probable, because it is rather unusual for a man who goes for hunting to make magic on a mountain.

13.1 bulup(a)n 'finding'. This word which was read buluḡ(ı)n by Thomsen (1912:198) is in fact bulup(a)n as first noticed and corrected by Clauson (1960:220).

13.2. tirilmiş 'stayed alive'. Orkun's translation of this word, i.e., 'dirilmiş' is incorrect (ETY II:76) So is Clauson's second translation in his dictionary: 'was resuscitated' (ED:547), as pointed out by Erdal (1977:93). His first translation in 'Notes', i.e., 'stayed alive' (1960:220) was correct!

14. bamiş [ba:miş] 'tied'. The spelling of a in this word indicates that it is a long one (MK ba:-, Trkm. ba:-, Khal. va:- id.).

16.1. s(ä)mrit(t)i 'fattened (itself)'. Thomsen (1912:199), Orkun (ETY II:23), Malov (1951) and Clauson (ED:830) regarded this word as a gerund in -i functioning as a modifier of the following yirin 'its place', and understood the phrase toruḡ (a)t s(ä)mriti yirin öp(ä)n as 'a lean horse, remembering the place which fattened him' (ED:830). Erdal has rejected this interpretation on the ground that the gerunds in -a/-e have almost never been used as modifiers of nouns in the Old Central Asian Turkic (1977:93). He thinks that the spelling smrltl could be a scribal error for smrltp, i.e., s(ä)mrit(i)p. This is possible; but I am of the opinion that there is no scribal error here and the word in question is nothing but s(ä)mrit(t)i.

16.2. kudursuḡıṇa 'to its tail'. The manuscript has KUDURSU-GlḡNlḡA which is obviously a scribal error.

Although a hapax legomena, the word is no doubt etymologically related to kudruk 'tail', kudurgak 'tail (gown)', kudurgun 'crupper (saddle)', etc. all occurring in MK.

17. yaş 'fresh grass'. This word which occurs twice in this paragraph is spelt YAş in its second occurrence. The spelling of a indicates that it is long (MK ya:ş, Trkm. ya:ş id.).

18. köz(ü)nüki 'its window'. The manuscript has kÜznÜKki. The letter *k*² after ÜK is superfluous.

21.1. k(a)rı üpgük 'an old hoopoe'. Thomsen, Orkun, Malov and Clauson have k(a)ra öpgük. Manuscript clearly has KRI, i.e. k(a)rı, as pointed out by Erdal (1977:95).

21.2. (ä)tdi 'it sang'. All the previous investigators read this t(e)di 'it said' which does not make sense here. The verb ät- 'to sing, make a sound' is well-attested in the old Turkic texts: t(a)gda sıgun (ä)ts(ä)r 'when deer bellow at mountains', üzä t(ä)ñri köb(ü)rg(ä)si (ä)t (ä)rçä 'as if the bridge of heaven above thunders' (Bilge Kagan, West), Uig. ätiz- 'to play a musical instrument', etc.

21.3. ödm(ä)ñ 'do not get excited!'. Clauson identified this verb as the root of MK üdig 'passion, sexual desire' and translated it as 'do not get excited' (1960:221, ED:50). Erdal reminded that it could also be the simplex of the verb üdür- 'seçip ayırmak' (1977:95). I agree with Clauson, for what we need here is a verb meaning 'to get excited' which is followed by körmäñ 'do not look!'. But the verb meaning 'to get excited' was in all likelihood with ö in Old Turkic, for it survives in Kirghiz as öyü- (<*ödü- or *ödi-). Therefore the readings üü- and üdig in Clauson and Dankoff should be corrected to read öü- and ödig, respectively,

21.4. ürk(ü)tm(ä)ñ 'do not frighten!'. The manuscript has Ürktñ which is read ürkittñ and translated as 'you frightened me' by Clauson (ED:39). But this meaning does not fit the context: 'do not get excited, do not look, you frightened me'. It seems that a hoopoe's singing before the daybreak of the New Year is probably regarded as a sign of bad luck and people are warned as to not getting excited, not looking at it and not frighten it. I think that Ürktñ is a scribal error here for Ürktmñ, i.e. ürk(ü)tm(ä)ñ.

22.1. uzun tonlug 'woman'. There seems to be no doubt that this is an expression used to denote women, not monks as thought by Thomsen (1912:200) and Orkun (ETY II:78).

22.2. közñü 'mirror'. Thomsen read this word küz(ü)ñü 'bell'. Since uzun tonlug means 'a woman' and not 'a monk', it is only logical to think that what we have here is közñü 'mirror' as Malov and Clauson thought.

22.3. y(a)ñra- 'to mumble', k(ä)ñrān- 'to mutter to oneself'. Clauson (1960:221) thought that the subject of these verbs was the mirror. It seems to be more logical to think that the subject of these verbs is the woman who dropped her mirror into a lake as Malov first interpreted (1951) and Erdal (1977:96) reaffirmed.

23. ç(ä)k(i)k 'lark'. The manuscript has çUk. Clauson thought that it was perhaps an error for çavıñ 'your reputation' which is followed by atıñ 'your name' (1960:221-222). But the second word is clearly spelt tıñ which can only be read (ä)tıñ as pointed out by Erdal (1977:96). Since k(ä)kük is some kind of a bird of prey, it is quite reasonable to assume that the word spelt çUk is an error for çkk, i.e. ç(ä)k(i)k 'lark', as suggested by Erdal (1977:96).

24. yütürüp 'having lost'. Thomsen and other scholars read this word yütürük 'being loaded', taking the final letter to be Ük. But it is clearly Up in the manuscript, as first pointed out by Erdal (1977:96). Therefore the word should be read yütürüp, although it is the only case in IB where the letter Up is used to write the front-vocalic üp.

As for the identification of the verb yütür-, all the previous scholars except Clauson took it to be a variety of an original yüdür- 'to load'. But in a runic text an intervocalic d could not have been written with the letter t. Clauson thought that, 'if it is correctly spelt', yütür- could be an Old Turkic causative form of MK yüd- 'to load one's self', i.e. yüt(t)ür- (1960:222). But this is impossible, for the causative form of yüd- is yüdür-, not yüdtür-*.

The best solution for yütür- seems to be to regard it as the causative of yüt-*, i.e. a dialectal form of OT yit-, which survives only in Yakut süt- 'to be lost, get lost' (caus. süiter- < yütür-*).

25. bukursı 'a wooden plough'. This word seems to have survived only in Modern Uighur: (lit.) buqusa, (dial.) bugursa 'a wooden plough', (Jar. 58) boqusa, buqusa, buqusae id., Tar.(Rad.) pogursa 'handle of a plough'. Clauson has bokursı and Dankoff boqursi.

26. t(a)ŋl(a)r- 'to break (of dawn)'. Clauson regards this verb as an error for taŋla- (ED:510). But it seems to be a derivative of taŋla 'at dawn', as suggested by Erdal (1977:97).

27. (ä)msi- 'to become poisonous'. Thomsen translated the sentence böri agzı ämsimiş as 'The wolf's mouth (still) sucked (?)' (1912:201) and Orkun as 'kurdun ağzı sulanmış' (ETY II:80). Clauson who regarded ämsi- a simulative form of äm- 'to suck' translated the sentence in the same way: 'the wolf's mouth watered' (ED:164). But this meaning does not fit the following sentence which is äsän tükäl bolmış 'It (i.e. the sheep) became safe and sound'. Furthermore, the verb ämsi- cannot be a derivative of the verb äm-, because the suffix +si- forms verbs only from nouns, as Erdal rightfully pointed out (1977:98).

In my opinion what we have here is ämsi- 'to become poisonous', a verb which seems to have survived only in Yakut ämtiy- 'to get poisonous, become poisonous'. Yakut ämtiy- regularly goes back to an older ämsi-*.

29.1. oyma (ä)r. Thomsen translated this phrase as 'a gambler', thinking that oyma would be a deverbal noun derived from oy-* 'to play', i.e. the root of oyun 'play, game' (1912:201, 213, note XXIX). This interpretation was accepted by Orkun (ETY II:80) and Malov (1951:). According to Clauson oyma must be a deverbal noun derived from oy- 'to hollow out'. He then translated the phrase oyma är as 'a man who makes holes (to set out the game' (1961:222), thinking that 'in many Turkish games, the play consisted in putting pebbles or counters in holes' (ED:273).

In my opinion, oyma is an action noun in -ma derived from oy- 'to hollow out' and the phrase oyma (ä)r means 'a man who is an expert in hollowing out the internal organs of a slaughtered animal'. See my interpretation of oş iç below.

29.2. oş iç. The group of letters USIç between two separation marks was read usıç by Thomsen and translated as 'hazardous (?)' (1912:201). Orkun accepted this reading and interpretation and translated the word as 'tehlikeli', i.e. 'dangerous' (ETY II:80). Malov's translation of the word is 'skilful' (1951:).

The group of letters USIç can be read, if it represents one word, in four different ways: osiç, usıç, oşıç and uşıç. None of these readings, however, is meaningful in Turkic. In my opinion what we have here are two synonymous words, i.e. oş iç, which make sense. The second word iç is well-known. The first word occurs in MK with the meaning 'the heart, center of a tree-trunk, branch or horn' (ED:255). MK also gives an example for this word: müñüz oşı 'the core of a horn'. This word seems to have survived only in Yakut and there only in the binary is-os which means 'abdomen, internal organs, intestines, etc. of animals and human beings' (Pek. 1883). Yakut is in this binary is Common Turkic iç, and os goes back to an older and original oş*, a form which is identical with MK oş. Consequently, I believe that the group of letters USIç represents the binary oş iç which survives in Yakut is-os (< iç oş*) in reverse order.

29.3. oyg(a)lı. Thomsen and following him other scholars read this word oy(u)g (a)l(ı)p. But the last letter is clearly l, not p, and the spot after the letter G does not look like a word-separation mark, as first noticed and pointed out by Erdal (1977:99). Consequently, the group of letters UYG.Ll can be read oyg(a)lı and this fits the context:

oş iç oyg(a)lı b(a)rmiş 'went in order to hollow out the internal organs (of a slaughtered animal)'.

Thus, I think that what the man mentioned in this omen participated in was not a gambling but it was some kind of a contest in which the contestants were expected to hollow out the internal organs of slaughtered animals as fast as they could.

31. b(a)rs kiyik 'a tiger'. Clauson thinks that these two words occurring also in the paragraph 49 refer not to one animal but two, i.e. 'a leopard and a deer', on the ground that m(e)ṅ occurs in Uighur and Karakhanid Turkic with the specific meaning of 'bird-seed, poultry food' (1961:222; ED:166, entry eṅ). But in Old Turkic and in IB kiyik is a generic term for any 'wild four-legged game animal' as defined correctly by Clauson himself (ED:755). In IB kiyik often occurs after the specific names of wild game animals used as their modifiers, e.g., älik kiyik (63), sigun kiyik (60), yargun kiyik (62) and bars kiyik (31, 49). The word māj occurring in the binary äṅ māj in this omen must have a broader meaning, i.e. 'wild game, food', as the verb mājlä- occurring in the sentence bars kiyik äṅläyü mājläyü barmış 'a tiger went looking for wild game and prey' (49) indicates.

36.1. üküş (a)tl(ı)g, kobı (a)tlıg. Clauson translates the first phrase as 'having many titles' and the second as 'having a reputation of being unlucky' (1961:222). But OT a:t 'name, title, reputation' has a long a and a long a in initial position is almost always written in IB, e.g. ak 'white' (5, 19), ala 'dappled, spotted' (2), at(a)n- 'to become famous' (55), etc. Therefore, if the word in these phrases were at 'name, title' its initial long a would have been written, as pointed out also by Erdal (1977:102).

36.2. uçruglug 'having (flying) flags'. The word uçrug occurs twice in U II and in one of its occurrences it seems to have been used synonymously with tug 'flag, standard': tug uçrug töpü tartıgta 'when flags were drawn high on the summit' (U II:40, 1070). Thus, the phrase uçruglug qut can be understood as 'good fortune to be celebrated with (flying) flags'.

37. biçä < biç-a. This is another example of early palatalization in IB; cf. yiş 'mountain forest' (17) < yış.

38. (a)bınçu k(a)tun bolzun 'may the concubine be a queen'. It was Clauson who first understood this sentence correctly (1961:223).

39. t(ı)gıg 'the dark roan (horse)' (acc.). It was Clauson who first interpreted this word correctly (1961:223).

40.1. t(a)l(ı)m urı 'a bold youth'. The word talım 'predatory' is generally used to qualify kara kuş 'eagle' in IB and Uighur. Here, however, it is used to qualify urı, i.e. 'a young man'. It is a regular verbal noun derived from talı- 'to plunder, pillage, damage', a variety or perhaps the older form of the more common tala-.

40.2. y(a)r(ı)n (a)ça 'opening (his) shoulder'. Clauson reads this yarınça and translates it as 'until he cleaves' (ED:954). This interpretation cannot be accepted, because the gerundial suffix is -gınça in Old Turkic, not -ınça. What we have here are two words written together and the first word y(a)r(ı)n is in the suffixless accusative form.

40.3. y(a)sıçın 'with a broad-headed arrow'. The instrumental form of yasıç. The spelling of the suffix -n with the front-vocalic sign indicates that the connective vowel is i, not ı.

41.1. buzagul(a)çı bol- 'to be about to give birth to a calf'. Clauson thinks that the form buzagulaçı is 'grammatically impossible' (ED:391). But a future-participial suffix -çı also occurs in other texts: y(a)r(a)m(a)çı 'it will not be good' (Tunyukuk: 23), ölm(ä)çi y(i)tm(ä)çi s(ä)n 'you will not die and perish' (Shine-Uşu: D 5), kulnaçı kısırak 'a mare in foal' (MK), etc.

41.2. ülügďä ozmiş 'it was saved from its fate'. Clauson suspects that the -g- in the first word is a scribal error for -m-, on the ground that the stock phrase in IB is ölümdä ozmiş 'it escaped death' (1961:223). He can be right in his reasoning; but the expression ülügďä oz- is equally normal and possible.

43. tog(a)n ügüz quşı quşl(a)yu b(a)rmiş. In this sentence ügüz kuşı 'river birds' is the object of quşlaya bar- 'to go hunting for birds', as Clauson first noticed and pointed out (1961:223).

44.1. titinmiş. The stem-final n of the verb is written with the front-vocalic sign. This indicates that the vowel ı of the second syllable is palatalized.

44.2. ügüşüp(ä)n. Clauson's öğüş- 'to rub one another' (ED:119) and ögi- 'to grind' (ED:1010 should be corrected to read ügüş- and ügi- respectively, for it survives in most of the Turkic languages with an initial ü.

46.1. b(a)sınu yemiş 'it kept on eating while sinking down'. It was Clauson who first interpreted this sentence correctly (ED:374). The verb basın- 'to be oppressed' means here 'to sink down, go down'.

46.2. y(a)b<l>(a)q ol. The manuscript has YBq

47. ümäl(ä)yü b(a)rmiş 'went visiting'. Clauson was the first to correct Thomsen's ömäl(ä)yü 'crawling' (1961:223). But his reading the verb with ö should be corrected; cf. MK ümä 'guest' (Dankoff I:126), Tat., Bsk. ömä 'a work carried out collectively (with the help of neighbors) <*üme, Trk. imece id. <*ümece, etc.

48.1. k(a)rı 'old'. Thomsen transcribed this word as k(a)ra 'black' and the others followed him. But the manuscript has k(a)rı, as first noticed by Erdal (1977:106).

48.2. s(a)p(a)r m(e)n. The manuscript has spr which can only be read s(ä)p(ä)r. On the other hand, the verb sap- 'to thread (a needle); to fix, repair (something broken)' is back-vocalic everywhere. Erdal is right in thinking that this mistake could be an evidence supporting the assumption that IB was first written in the Uighur script (1977:106).

49.1. b(a)rs kiyik 'a tiger'. Clauson thinks that these two words refer not to one animal but two, as they also do, according to him, in the paragraph 31 (1961:222, ED:186). But this cannot be correct, especially in this case, because the tiger meets 'a wild goat' on its half-way as we understand from the following sentence, whereas no mention is made of 'a deer'.

49.2. b(a)rm(i)ş. Thomsen transcribed this word as b(a)rmiş, but the manuscript has BRms.

49.3. (a)mga 'wild goat'. Thomsen transcribed this word m(a)ga and left it untranslated (1912:205). So did Orkun who followed him (ETY II:85). Malov read the word m(a)ga and equated it with Mongolian mogay 'snake' (1951:). It was Clauson who first read and interpreted the word correctly: (a)mga 'wild goat' (1961:223). His doubts about this word's occurrence with initial a instead of ı, however, is out of place, for it also occurs in the Orkhon inscriptions with an initial a (KT K8, BQ E31). Starting from Karakhanid Turkic, however, it occurs with initial ı. It is also with an initial i in Mongolian: Secret History ima'an, Written Mongolian imagan. There seems to be no doubt that Turkic amga, ımgga and Mo. imagan are cognates displaying at the same time an ancient Altaic alternation a ~ ı in the first syllable.

50.1. tigr(ä)t-, y(a)dr(a)t-. The two sentences ending in these two verbs have not been understood correctly by the previous scholars. There is no doubt that the first verb means 'to make a horse break wind on the move', i.e. 'to make a horse run until it breaks wind', as understood from Kaşgarî's examples. The second verb which is a Hap. leg. seems to have survived in Altay and Teleut yayrat- 'to knock down, destroy' must have here a meaning like 'to make a horse run until it becomes exhausted', because it occurs in a sentence which is parallel to the preceeding one ending in tigrät.

50.2. üç(ü)rgü 'sweat-cloth of a horse put under its saddle'. The word occurs as üçärgü and içürgü in Chagatay (ED:31). It survives in the north-eastern Turkic languages with an initial ü (Khak. üçürgü 'sweat-cloth', Shor üjürge 'felt cloth put under the saddle', Bar. ütsürgö, etc.) and in Tara and Kurdak as içürgi. Clauson's etymology deriving it from öçür- 'to extinguish' cannot be correct (ED:31). His öçürgü should then be corrected to read üçürgü.

50.3. topuulg(ı)nça 'until it is pierced'. This word was misread by Thomsen as topu ul(u)g (a)nça (1912:206). Clauson thought that it was an error for topla:ğuluğ (a)nça (1961:224; ED:31, entry öçürgü). But such a reading does not make sense here. What we have here is the verb topul- 'to be pierced' with the gerundial suffix -gınça, as S. Tezcan first noticed and pointed out ('Tonyukuk yazıtında birkaç düzeltme', TDA YB 1975-76:177). The verb topul- 'to pierce' is well-attested in Old Turkic (cf. DTS and ED). It survives in Küerik toptın- 'to be pierced' (<toplun-*), toptıntır- 'to pierce, bore a hole' (<topluntur-*) and toptık 'a hole' (<topluk*, i.e. topul-uq). Clauson's tupul- (ED:440) should therefore be corrected.

52. boltı. Clauson regarded this word as a mistranscription of bul(ı)tı. According to him (e)r busuşlug t(ä)ñri bulıt(ı)g is a sentence without a copula and the word bul(ı)tı forms a phrase with the following ara 'among', i.e. bul(ı)tı ara 'among the clouds', because this phrase is the counterpart of busanç (a)ra 'in the midst of depression' (1961:224). This sounds logical, but BULTI would be a misspelling for bul(ı)tı (the narrow unrounded vowel of the second syllable should have been written) and the phrase bul(ı)tı ara would be wrong grammatically, because it lacks the accusative suffix -n after the possessive suffix -ı, as pointed out by Erdal (1977:109). In my opinion, the copyist simply forgot to write the word bulıt after boltı of the first sentence and before ara of the second sentence, for only in this way we can have an exact parallelism between the two parts of the second sentence: <bulıt> ara kiin tugmış, busanç (a)ra m(ä)ñi k(ä)lmiş.

54. kul s(a)bı 'the slave's words', kuzgun s(a)bı 'the raven's words'. Clauson regarded kul and kuzgun as the subjects and s(a)bı as the objects of the two sentences (1961:224). This interpretation cannot be correct, for if that were the case there would have been the accusative suffix -n in the word s(a)bı in its both occurrences, as Erdal pointed out (1977:109).

55.1. tör(ü)tmiş. Thomsen read this word türtmiş 'prodded' which does not make sense in this context. Clauson corrected this word first as töretmiş 'he created' which is wrong (1961:224) and later as törütmiş which is correct (ED:536). I think his translation of sü yirintä (ä)rklig s(a)bçı tör(ü)tmiş as 'he got himself made an independent envoy in the fighting area' is correct.

55.2. yitiglig 'capable'. Thomsen's translated this word as 'rejoicing (?)' (1912:207) which is wrong. So is Malov's translation of the phrase (a)tı yitiglig as 'his horse is dressed in parade harness' (1951). Clauson translated the same phrase as 'with a reputation for cleverness' (1961:224) which is all wrong. In my opinion, yitiglig is an adjective derived from yitig 'ability, capability', a verbal noun in -g from yit-, i.e. yet- 'to overtake, overcome, be able or capable'.

57.1. k(a)n(ı)g 'favored one, favorite'. The group of letters qNGI which occurs twice in this paragraph was read k(a)ngı by Thomsen (1912:207). He translated this word as 'prince'. Clauson first thought that it probably was a scribal error for kañı, i.e., 'his father' (1961:225).

Later, however, he came to the conclusion that kanıg must have a meaning like 'a favorite, a favorite horse' (ED:637). Pritsak analyzed the word as k(a)n+gı and translated it as 'belonging to the khan' ('Zum Parallelismus im Alttürkischen', Studia Orientalia, 1964), a view which has rightly been criticised by Erdal (1977:110-111).

In my opinion, Clauson was right in his second interpretation. What we actually have here is k(a)n(i)g, i.e. a verbal noun in -g plus -ı, i.e. the 3rd p. poss. suffix. The verb kan- means 'to be satisfied' and the verbal noun kanıg has a meaning like 'satisfaction, cheerfulness' or the like. But here k(a)n(i)g seems to have a specialized meaning like 'someone who is favored, a favorite person', not 'a favorite horse' as Clauson thought.

57.2. könäki, könäki 'her pail'. The spelling of the word könäk 'a leather pail' with ṇ in its first occurrence must be an error, for the word occurs in MK and in modern languages with n.

60.1. (a)rlı 'bifurcated, branched' (?). This word occurring after toḡkuz '9' and before sıgun kıyık 'male maral deer' was translated by Thomsen as 'thicket' (1912:208) which does not make much sense. Malov read the word aral(lı) and translated the phrase tokuz aral(lı) as 'living in the nine islands' (1951). But aral 'island' is a Mongolian word and not found in Turkic before the 15th century, as Clauson pointed out (1961:225). Besides, the adjectival suffix expressing possession was -lıg/-lig, and not -lı/-li in Old Turkic.

In his dictionary, Clauson, reading the word aralı, estimated two meanings for the phrase tokuz aralı: 1) 'nine months old', 2) 'with nine points to its horns' (ED:230). In my opinion, Clauson's second choice is the most likeliest of the meanings estimated so far for this word. The horns of a deer are the most important parts of its body distinguishing it from other wild animals, and the word tokuz '9' indicates that the bifurcated horns of this male deer had nine points or branches. Although it is not an easy task to explain the structure of arlı or aralı, it can at least for the time being be said that it is somehow etymologically related to ara 'distance between two points'.

60.2. b(ä)d<ük>. This word occurring before tiz 'knee(s)' is spelt bdz i.e., b(ä)d(i)z 'ornament', which is out of place here. It is probably a scribal error for b(ä)dük 'big, great', as Clauson thought (ED:310).

61.1. turnäya 'crane'. The manuscript has TURñYA which is a scribal error for TURñYA.

61.2. tüşnäkiä. The word tüşnäk was translated 'companion' by Thomsen (1912:208). Clauson correctly translated this word as 'nest' (1961:225), but he mistranscribed it as töşnek in his dictionary (ED:565). This word is obviously a derivative of the verb tüşnä- 'to settle down in lodgings' (cf. tüş- 'to dismount from a horse, stay for the night', tüşün 'lodgings, inn').

61.3. tuz(a)k(k)a. Thomsen read this word tozka and translated 'in the dust' (1912:208) and Orkun followed him (ETY II:89). Malov too read it tozka, but translated the word toz as 'birch bark' (1951). These readings and translations were all wrong. It was Clauson who first read and interpreted the word correctly (1961:225).

64. boymul <*boynul. This word meaning 'having a white neck' was read buymul by Clauson (1961:225, ED:386). I suggested that it should be read with o, not with u, for it is very probable that this word is derived, with the labialization of n, from boyun, i.e. boymul <*boynul (cf. MK başıl koy 'a sheep with a white spot on its head'). The word boymul seems to have survived with its original meaning only in Yakut: moybor 'white stripe around the neck', moymor 'white hair on the neck' <*moymol <*boymul.

Colophon:

1. t(a)ygünt(a)n = Chinese Ta-yun t'ang 'Salle du Grand Nuage' (Hamilton 1975:13-14).

2. di<n>t(a)r. The manuscript has dITR which is obviously an error for dInTR.

3. burua < Middle Persian murw 'presage, augure' (Hamilton 1975:16).

4. guru 'a venerated person, spritual master' < Skr. guru (Hamilton 1975:17).

5. (e)ş(i)d(i)p iç(i)m(i)z. Thomsen read the group of letters sdsIçmz as (e)ş(i)dş(i)m(i)z and regarded it as a clerical error for (e)ş(i)d(i)ş(i)m(i)z, i.e. 'our hearers' (1912:209). Hamilton argues that the third letter should be p, not s as Thomsen thought, and he reads the group of letters as above (1975:17). I think Hamilton is right in his reasoning.

6. isig 'cordial, affectionate'. Thomsen regarded this word as a part of the personal name, i.e. 'Isig Sangun' (1912:209). Hamilton, on the other hand, thinks that the word isig 'warm, hot' has probably a figurative meaning here like 'cordial, affectionate' and he cites two examples from F. W. K. Müller's Zwei Pfahlschriften..., i.e. el ögäsi isig ädgü totok ögä, el qaya isig ädgü totoq är toña (1975:18). I think Hamilton is right in this assumption of his.

7. itaçuk. Thomsen read this itä-çuk, for it is spelt with the front t sign (1912:209). Hamilton reads the same word as İt Açuk, regarding açuk 'open; frank' as the second part of the personal name (1975:18). But açuk can hardly be used as a personal name. In my opinion, itaçuk is one word going back to an older itaçuk*, i.e. the word it 'dog' having two diminutive suffixes, +aç and +uq, as Erdal has recently suggested (1991:34).

和意金法

静心与相教如智慧为解法

後因持手看元景樹石脇便即走尋常
初生為子座輪王雲動天地放明光
為表擇加非必行方普令諸子離无常
九龍水浴神昭天宮宴懷德
便見東王行七步要受下天寶

長天謝城金斗老行以然通六斗
身非夢衣食非交結如擲念便得
刑家權在不思儀收權間戲笑前
食子河漢自沐浴希經徒空授樹枝
因此成仙放光明之玉所說元象生

廣演正宗妙法闡乎世界善惡行
成佛四十餘九年法教流傳到此間
普勸衆生勤念佛亦文持戒亦修禪
衆生見仙漸輕微只來觀見却還歸
是現元象要知闡發衆生无所依

涅槃以度生二年法教無偏五天
衆生三條行度亦成道身
故知發得出凡籠一須至
權道不修得真道要自著字中
出家須直三會推成有明戒

2.1.1.2. MANİCİ EDEBİYATTA NESİR

Mani muhitinde meydana getirilen mensur eserler sayıca ve hacim bakımından çok değildir. Küçük boyutlu yazmalar hâlindeki eserler “çok güzel ve özenli yazılmıştır, kimileri minyatürlerle süslüdür.” Çoğu dinî metinler ve dualardır. Tövbe duaları, manastır yönetmeliği gibi parçalar da vardır. Din dışı metinler olarak bir fal kitabı, bir atasözü derlemesi ve Ezop hikâyeleri de dahil olmak üzere çeşitli hikâyeler bulunmaktadır (Tezcan 1978: 301-305).

Uygurların üçüncü hükümdarı Böğü Kağan 762'de, Uygurlar daha Orhun bölgesindeyken Mani dinine girmişti. Onun bu dine girişini anlatan bir metin, Manici nesrin en önemli örneklerinden biridir. Baştan ve sondan eksik olan bu metinde Böğü Kağan'ın Mani rahipleriyle konuşması, dinin icaplarına aykırı hareketlerden dolayı duyulan pişmanlık ve tebeasının sadık bir ümmet olması için Böğü Kağan'ın yaptığı teşebbüsler anlatılır. Metinde derin bir iman ve dinî bir vecid sezilmektedir. Bazı yerlerde kısa cümlelerden meydana gelmiş mükâleme üslûbu dikkati çekmektedir.

Tahminen 930 yılında ve Köktürk harfleriyle kaleme alınmış olan Irk Bitig (Fal Kitabı), Mani muhitinde yazılmış önemli bir metindir. İçinde dine ait unsurlar bulunmakla beraber dinî bir eser değildir; bir fal kitabıdır. Her biri ayrı bir fal olarak yorumlanan 65 paragraftan meydana gelmiştir. Her falın (paragrafın) başında siyah mürekkeple çizilmiş küçük daireler vardır. Her faldaki daireler üç dizi hâlinededir. Her dizide, sayıları 1-4 arasında değişen daireler vardır. Böylece her fal, üç rakamlı bir sayı ile numaralanmış gibidir. Meselâ, bir paragrafın başındaki birinci dizide 2, ikinci dizide 2, üçüncü dizide 4 daire varsa bu fal 2 2 4 numaralı faldır. Falına bakmak isteyen insan, muhtemelen dört yüzünden her biri bir sayıya delâlet eden aşık kemiğini üç defa atmak suretiyle kaç numaralı falın kendisine isabet ettiğini tespit eder (Orkun 1938: 71-72).
